Three minutes is all it takes! Do you have an innovative or ground-shaking idea or research and do you want to present this in 3 minutes to make both a global and local impact? Sign up now for the Falling Walls Lab Amsterdam!

The Germany Institute at the University of Amsterdam (DIA) celebrates its 25th anniversary this year. We would like to seize this opportunity by looking forward. Which trends in the areas of politics, culture and innovation and science can we expect? What chances and developments do we see for Germany, the most important power in the European Union? And what does this mean for us, in the Netherlands?

In line with this, the DIA organises the Falling Walls Lab Amsterdam on the 18th of June 2021. Students, graduates and young professionals are offered the opportunity to present their innovative and ground-shaking idea or research at a Science Slam in front of a professional jury. The central question is: Where will - in the footsteps of the fall of the Berlin Wall - in the near future walls fall and breakthroughs take place?

The jury, consisting out of five persons, will on the basis of the criteria "Breakthrough factor", "Relevance/Impact" and "Structure/Performance" choose a winner. The winner will travel to Berlin and will on the 8th of November 2021 participate in the finale during the Falling Walls Conference.

Are you a student or graduate and do you want to cause breakthroughs in your field of expertise or society through your idea or research? Sign up before the 31st of May for the Falling Walls Lab and deliver yourself the chance for this place in the finale!

The event and the presentations of the participants will take place in English. If you have further questions, you can contact duitslanddesk-dia@uva.nl.
